

SOSO & DJ KUTDOWN -

ALL THEY FOUND WAS WATER AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

Blending their very different but complementary production styles -- soso providing the melody arrangements and Kutdown providing the drum sequences -- All They Found Was Water at the Bottom of the Sea was created in the spirit of collaboration and friendship. The album retains the character that defined much of their earlier work and reflects their ongoing appreciation for beautiful samples and drums that smack.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

An artist known for weaving compelling personal narratives with his sparse, beautiful production style, soso has become a fixture of the avant-garde hip hop/art rap movement. An artist, writer and beatsmith from Saskatchewan, Canada, his music is unapologetic and decidedly home-made.

Cutting his production teeth on a vintage Akai S900 sampler, soso has been knocking out distinctive beats with that low end thump since the mid 90's. Lifting old drums and melodic bits from his expansive (and expanding) collection of used vinyl, soso has been chopping and assembling beats, developing his unique sound and earning the respect of the independent hip hop community.

Dj Kutdown (born Michael Clayton Arnone) is an accomplished producer, turntablist and sound engineer. He spent his formative years in Thunder Bay, Ontario schooling himself on turntables and drum machines. A move to Winnipeg in 2000 introduced him to the legendary FrekSho crew where he quickly assumed production and dj duties. The Kutdown-produced album, Ismaila: Mark of the Zebra charted in the top 10 on American college radio securing the duo a spot on the Vans Warped Tour USA.

Arnone has since released numerous albums and mixtapes and has provided production for some of Canada's finest hip hop artists. He currently resides in Winnipeg, MB where he is a freelance producer/engineer/performer, and employed as a music instructor for the Graffiti Gallery.
